

Canada's Resource Champion

Cody Battershill

Founder of Canada Action

Canada Action is a volunteer-led grassroots movement that encourages Canadians to support our natural resources sector. Canada Action believes that it is critical to educate Canadians about the social and economic benefits provided by the resource sector.

Cody is also a strong advocate for having a balanced debate when it comes to the future of Canada's natural resources.

Highlights from Cory's nomination

Cody's nomination spoke to his ongoing commitment to encourage and enable Canadians to take part in an educated conversation regarding resource development in Canada. As the founder of Canada Action, the impact and reach Cody has had through this organization has been encompassing and is growing every day.

Cody has a deep understanding of the resource sector and its impact on our country. He is passionate about Canada, Alberta and Calgary and strives to drive conversations about policy, development and innovation with one goal in mind – bettering the lives of all Canadians.
