

Canada's Resource Cities Speakers Bureau

Stewart Muir

Executive Director
Resource Works Society

Biography

As founder of the Vancouver-based Resource Works Society, Stewart Muir has become an in-demand public speaker whose goal is to build positive understanding about the importance of Canada's natural-resource economy. Since launching in 2014, Resource Works has engaged with people on its topics, along the way building a movement of popular support now numbering in the thousands. Its website www.resourceworks.com covers a broad range of topics and the program produces a steady stream of relevant fresh content.

Through events like She Talks Resources, regular columns and studies, and his weekly radio talks, Stewart is leading a unique project that is being noticed and appreciated by leaders in civil society, industry and government. He tackles topics that can be controversial, yet brings a middle-ground perspective that many people relate to.

Stewart has an international outlook, having resided during his journalism career in Hong Kong, Australia, The Netherlands and the United Kingdom, and he co-authored The Sea Among Us: The Amazing Strait of Georgia, which in 2015 won the BC Book Prize as the most outstanding work that contributes to an appreciation of British Columbia. A longtime journalist and decision-maker in the Canadian media field, Stewart has a national vision as well as a regional one. He has launched ambitious transformation projects in Ottawa and Toronto for media groups Postmedia and The Canadian Press. He is a chief judge in the annual National Newspaper Awards and resides in Victoria, B.C.
